FREYA BEAR PHOTOGRAPHY

Hi, I'm Jenna

I'm a photographer, wife, and mom of two who believes the most meaningful moments are the ones that unfold naturally. I'm a coffee-loving, book-reading, nature-chasing creative with a deep appreciation for genuine connection and real emotion.

When it comes to weddings, my approach is centered on documenting your day as it truly happens—capturing the big moments, quiet in-betweens, and everything that makes your love story uniquely yours.

Sneak Peek

What to expect Engagement Session

Engagement sessions are designed to feel natural, fun, and effortless. This is your time to slow down, connect, and simply enjoy being together. I'll guide you with gentle prompts while leaving room for genuine laughter, movement, and those in-between moments that tell your story.

Location

Your engagement session should take place somewhere that matters to you. Think about the places and moments you naturally enjoy together. Whether it's adventurous, cozy, or laid-back, the best location is one that tells a piece of your story.

What To Wear

Choosing what to wear doesn't have to be stressful. Wear something that makes you feel comfortable and confident—because that confidence always shows in photos. Stick to complementary colors, soft pastels, neutrals, or cool tones, and avoid busy patterns or neon shades. If you want a pop of color, add it through simple accessories to keep the look timeless and effortless. I also have a client closet with a range of sizes to look through.

What to expect Wedding Day

Wedding days are a beautiful blend of planned moments and spontaneous emotion. I focus on creating timeless imagery that reflects the love, joy, and connection you share—capturing your day in an authentic and heartfelt way that you'll cherish for generations.

To ensure your wedding day runs smoothly, we'll create a photography timeline ahead of time that allows everything to unfold with ease. This helps make sure there's enough time for important moments like portraits, family photos, and gathering details for your morning detail shots.

Your wedding day is meant to be enjoyed, not rushed. Once the timeline is in place, you can trust that everything has been thoughtfully planned with your experience in mind. I'll gently guide you through portraits and key moments while allowing plenty of space for genuine emotion and natural interactions. My role is to keep things moving smoothly behind the scenes so you can stay present, soak in every moment, and celebrate your love without stress.
